Forecast For The United Kingdom
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 1600 on Sunday 26 Sep 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 1800 and 0600

Headline:
Turning cooler and more unsettled with some wet, windy weather.

This Evening and Tonight:
Band of heavy rain moving across all but eastern England. Some very heavy rain and squally winds likely in the southwest for a time overnight. Clearer, cooler weather following to the west and north, with scattered heavy showers.

Monday:
Rain clearing to the east, longest lived for northern Scotland, with blustery conditions for a time. Cooler conditions elsewhere spreading across the UK with heavy showers, mainly in the west.

Outlook for Tuesday to Thursday:
Unsettled with rain or showers, some heavy with hail and thunder at times, however often dry and sunny on Wednesday. Windy with gales in places. Temperatures around average.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.